

Bridge Camera thought prodders

Bridge Cameras Pros and Cons

What does it look like?

Why are they called a bridge camera?

Do they look different from compact?

Are they as bulky as a DSLR?

Does it have more settings?

Do you have full control or does the camera still do some of the work?

Who uses a bridge camera?

Do they have a view finder?

If you are not sure... then do some research..... google “ what is a bridge camera”

Write down the features and what makes them good?

What makes them not so good?

What types of photography can you do with them?